SUNY Delhi Places Fourth at GCSAA Turf Bowl Competition

SUNY Delhi captured fourth place in the Golf Course Superintendents Association of America's (GCSAA) Collegiate Turf Bowl Competition in Orlando on Feb. 9, the best finish in the history of SUNY Delhi's turf management program.

The Turf Bowl team competed against 58 teams from 36 schools around the country, including large institutions like Penn State, Michigan State and Purdue University. This year's results build on an 11th place finish last year and a 32nd place finish in 2015.

"The Turf Bowl accomplishment speaks volumes to what we are doing as a program, all the hard work the students have put in, and the level of future turf managers we are training," said Marvin Seaman, Assistant Professor of Applied Sciences at SUNY Delhi. "This competition was a great experience for our students. Not only did they get to compete in the Turf Bowl, but the GSCAA conference provides valuable professional networking opportunities."

The Turf Bowl, held in partnership with John Deere Golf, features a written case study and a test covering agronomic, business, and financial management aspects of the turf superintendent profession. A total of $10,000 in cash and prizes were awarded to the top 10 teams.

The SUNY Delhi team consisted of Golf and Sports Turf Management students James Carlton of Marcellus, Tyler Warren of Baldwinsville, Edgar Magana of Huntington Station, and Andre Kepler of Newport, NH.
